

THE "BRONZE MAHAN" OF 1916 FOOTBALL

Pollard, the Colored Flyer of Brown Eleven, Best Back in East.

Silhouetted against the background of a brilliant football year is the dusky form of Fred D. "Fritz" Pollard, the colored flyer of the Brown University eleven.

Thanks to an attack built about this wonderful young player and to his remarkable individual running and defensive playing, the Providence team this year achieved a feat that no other eleven outside the "big three" has been able to approach—that of scoring twenty-one points against and defeating both the Harvard and the Yale machines.

Probably no football player is causing more discussion today than Brown's sensational half back.

There are critics who discuss the clever negro from an adverse standpoint, but any man who can get out there on the gridiron and pull off the stunts that Pollard has shown in the last two weeks have a few good points. Yale players think so and the chances are that Harvard figures it the same way.

The "Bronze Mahan," as Pollard has been dubbed, is a Chicagoan, 21 years of age, weighs 154 pounds, and a sophomore at Brown University. He is therefore available for the eleven for two more seasons. To what heights he may rise in two more campaigns is mere conjecture. He ought to be without a peer in his graduating year. According to all precedent Pollard ought then to be named captain of the 1918 eleven, considering his remarkable service.

Pollard, although small, as modern football heroes rate, goes into battle "light." That is to say, he wears practically no pads or head gear. He is said to be a pure tackler, a good interferer and can punt some, as well as carry the ball incomparably.

He was graduated from Lane Technical High School, of Chicago, in the spring of 1915, and entered Brown that fall. While at Lane, Pollard took part in athletics and played on the school football team.

This marvel of the football world entered the Providence institution of learning unheralded, unsung and unknown. Reporting for football practice a few days after he had matriculated, he at once attracted the attention of the coaches, but even Ned Robinson, who has about as keen a nose for promising material as any general in the game, did not dream that in the dusky athlete he was to develop one of the sensations of the season.

For several days Pollard went through the routine drill with the scrub talent, but, as modest today as he was then, he never put the best foot forward until given a chance to play half back with the second team in a game with Worcester Academy at Worcester. The things he did to the academy boys is still remembered vividly.

The next day Pollard was taken in tow by Coach Robinson and given a place on the varsity training table. Winning a steady berth at half back on the first eleven was about the easiest thing Pollard has ever done. In less than a week he had the job clinched and he has been a regular ever since.

Pollard is rated the greatest half back ever turned out at Brown, and so brilliant is his work on offense that the critics often lose sight of his greatness on defense, a department in which he stands without a peer in the opinion of the Brown coaching staff.

In addition to being a football celebrity, Pollard holds high rank as a hurdler and at present is the custodian of the New England Amateur Athletic Association record of 4.5-5 seconds for the 50-yard hurdles indoors. He has topped the barriers in the 220-yard run in 25 seconds.

BROWN NOT TO ARRANGE GAME WITH PITTSBURGH

Providence, R. I., Nov. 23.—At a meeting of the athletic authorities of Brown University yesterday it was decided that no effort will be made to arrange a post season football game with Pitt. Neither team has been beaten all season.

TO NAME OFFICIALS FOR SUNDAY GAME

Everything is in readiness for the Mo-hawk-Trojan game which is to be played Sunday at Union League Park but the naming of the officials. Manager McClure and Manager Garalida will meet today and settle on the trio of local officials who will handle this game.

This will be the annual battle between the two teams. The game was to have been played two weeks ago, but because of the heavy rainstorm and the mud-soaked field it was postponed until Sunday.

There is a great rivalry existing between the two elevens; and as the Trojans have recently been strengthened, a great game is being anticipated by the followers of the two clubs. Both teams will hold important practices tonight. The Trojans will hold their workout at 7 p. m. at Sixth and C streets southwest, and Coach Kooze requests all candidates to be present. The Indians will practice at their 1320 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, at 7:30 p. m.

OLD RIVALS TO MEET IN BIG SERVICE GAME

New York, Nov. 23.—Indiana, which has been noted for its literature, Brown County philosophy and fervid politics, will horn into the sporting spotlight here in New York on Saturday by providing the main thrill of the Army and Navy football games—the duel between Olinphant, of the Cadets, and Ingram, of the Middies.

The Cadets have been told that all they have to fear is Ingram, and similar instructions have been passed out to the Middies with regard to Olinphant. Both are Hoosiers and ancient high school rivals. The bout between this pair should be a hummer. Ingram is the brother of the Navy's head coach, who in his time was one of the Annapolis school's greatest stars.

STOVE LEAGUE FANS WILL HOLD BANQUET

The first annual Stove League banquet of the Baseball Boosters' and Knockers' Corporation will be held at 307 S street northwest, on Thanksgiving eve.

This organization is unique in its conception and bids fair to supply a long existing omission in off-season amusement.

In order to be eligible for membership one must have seen at least fifty games, this establishing a right to the name "Regular." An additional requirement for membership is that the applicant must be either a "baseball fan," a "baseball crank," or a "baseball fiend."

The above organization is composed of about twenty colored fellows who inhabit the right field pavilion.

TRY AGAIN TO HAVE OUMET REINSTATED

Boston, Nov. 23.—The executive committee of the Massachusetts Golf Association today voted to grant the request of the Woodland Golf Club for a special meeting of the association to consider its attitude toward efforts to have Francis Oumet, former national open and amateur golf champion, Paul Tewksbury and John H. Sullivan, Jr., reinstated as amateurs.

These members of the Woodland Club were declared ineligible to compete as amateurs by the United States Golf Association because of their business affiliations. The Woodland Club has decided to make protest against this ruling at the next meeting of the national body and seeks the endorsement of the State organization. The meeting of the latter has been set for December 22.

CARL MAYS ARRIVES ON BIG AUTO TRIP

Portland, Ore., Nov. 23.—Carl Mays, pitcher on the Boston world champion baseball team, is in Portland today after completing a trans-continental automobile trip from Boston to this city. His speedometer showed he traveled 5,875 miles. He left Boston five weeks ago last Saturday.

PACIFIC COAST HOCKEY TO START DECEMBER 1

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—At the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Hockey League it was decided that the schedule start on December 1. This year the teams will compete in a twelve-game series. To the Portland Club, last year's champions, was given the honor of opening up the schedule. Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and Spokane comprise the league.

Navy Team Off For Army Battle To Play Old Eli

Coach Ingram Looks for a Hard Game, but Expects to Win.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 23.—"It's going to be the hardest fight we ever had, but I want to assure you fellows that the Navy is going to win."

Those were the remarks of Lieut. Jonas H. Ingram, head coach of the Navy football team, delivered before the regiment of midshipmen who swarmed the arway of the passenger station yards of the Maryland electric railways just before a special train, made up of four Pullman cars of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, pulled out of the Bladen street terminal at 5 o'clock bearing the squad of Navy gridders warriors bound for New York, where they will battle with the rival Army cadets in the annual football game.

Ingram was compelled to respond to the repeated cheers of one of the Pullman officers. His remarks were brief but every word that he had to say was uttered with seriousness, and besides, he spoke with marked emphasis.

Lieut. Ingram, among other things, complimented the Midshipmen for the fine spirit they had shown throughout the season in backing their comrades of the gridders squad.

ARMY.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The final polish was imparted to the Army eleven tonight in a driving rain storm. The field was a veritable swamp and the men were sent to an adjoining griddiron to do their work where the going was somewhat better.

All the army's repertoire was gone through and the men handled the wet ball in good shape.

PLAYGROUND ELEVEN TO MEET LOCAL TEAM

The Washington Soccer Football Club will play a picked eleven from the Playground Eleven on Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. on the field at Monument Grounds, Seventeenth and B Street northwest. Keith, the director of the playgrounds, has promised to get his heaviest eleven together and they ought to make a good showing against the local clubmen.

The Washington Soccer Club will travel to Baltimore on Thanksgiving Day to play the Wanderers of the Baltimore Soccer League.

MATTY AS PRESIDENT OF REDS, IS REPORT

New York, Nov. 23.—The New York Sun today declared that Christy Mathewson, now manager of the Cincinnati National League club, may be made president of that club, to succeed Garry Herrmann. Herrmann, it was said, is expected to retire, in order to become a neutral chairman of the National Commission.

Player Awarded $400.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 23.—In compliance with a ruling of the National Commission, President Zehrung, of the Western League, today drew a $400 check in favor of James Kane, released first baseman of the Sioux City club. This disposed of the controversy brought by Kane's release last spring.

BEWICKS INCREASE LEAD OVER CASLONS

Although "Bubbles" Cahoon broke not only the individual game, but also the record of The Herald League, his team, the Roycrofters, were able to win only one game from the Bewicks who are topping the league.

Starting in his first game with a total of 14 runs, Cahoon came back in the second with 111, and then proceeded to break the former record of 131 game and 233 for set, by spilling 147 pins in his last attempt, giving him 352 for the set.

Switzer's Caslons improved their standing in the race by taking all three games from the Jensonas.

Crimson Team Prepared for Big Game in the Bowl Saturday.

The Harvard football squad left Cambridge yesterday for New Haven and practiced in the Yale bowl during the afternoon. Later in the day the team went to New London to await Saturday's big contest.

Practice will be held on the New London baseball field this afternoon, and if the weather conditions are satisfactory it is more than possible that the backs will take a trip to the bowl.

Of the Harvard regulars Harris, Hart, Horwood, Dugan, and Robinson saw Yale play at Princeton. As these men are all sure of their positions against Yale—they played against Princeton, with the exception of Robinson, who was injured—there seems to be a great deal of point in the protest of the Harvard Crimson against the team which Cambridge put into the field against Brown.

In the way of extenuation a
